Journal of Business and Leadership:

Research, Practice, and Teaching

Journal of Business and Leadership: Research, Practice, and Teaching is a refereed publication. The aim of this journal is to provide a forum for current thoughts, techniques, theories, issues, trends, and innovations in business and leadership fields. All manuscripts submitted to the journal will be subject to the double-blind referee process.

Call for Manuscripts
Deadline: June 30, 2006

FORMAT

- Manuscripts should be typed on a standard size paper (8.5 by 11) and should not exceed 25 pages, including references, tables, appendixes, and figures.
- The manuscript must use Microsoft Word and should be typed in a 12-point font. It must be double-spaced (excluding references, appendixes, tables, and figures). All margins are one inch.
- Main headings should be centered and typed in all capitals. Example: INTRODUCTION.
- Secondary headings should be typed flush with the left margin and in small letters, with major words beginning with capitals. Example: Learning Models.
- Tables, figures, and graphs should be included where they are discussed. Do not include notations like Insert Table 1 About Here. (Note: tables, appendixes, and figures must be in a table format).
- Do not paginate within the manuscript. Pencil in page numbers on the bottom of the hard copy.
- Do not use footnotes in your manuscript.
- Citations should be made in the text by enclosing the cited author's name and the year of the work cited in parentheses. Example: Several studies (Johnson, 1999; Smith, 1998; Green, 1997) support this finding.
- Direct quotations must give a page number(s); these follow the date of publication and are separated from it by a colon. Example: Johnson indicated that writing is a difficult process (1995: 6).
- Periodical reference example: Johnson, C. 1994. The art of writing. Management Journal, 32: 112-125.
- Book reference example: Johnson, C. 1994. The art of writing. New York: Macmillan.
- The references section must not contain internet citations.
- The title page should include the title of the manuscript and appropriate contact information (authors' names, affiliations, complete address, contact numbers including cell phone, and e-mail addresses).
- The second page should repeat the title of the manuscript and a brief (not to exceed 100 words) abstract. Excluding title page, the manuscript should not contain the name of the author or any affiliation that would allow the reviewer to determine authorship.

ASSUMPTIONS

- Authors have submitted original work and made every effort to ensure accuracy of the manuscript.
- Ethical standards have been applied in the research and preparation of the manuscript submitted for publication.
- Authors have obtained appropriate permissions so that the publication of the manuscript would not violate any copyright or other personal or proprietary rights of others.
- Publication decisions are based on the recommendations of the journal's editorial board. Submissions are typically assigned to three reviewers for consideration. Weak or inappropriate submissions may be returned to authors without formal reviews.
- Authors should electronically submit copies of their manuscripts to: jobl@fhsu.edu OR mzainuba@fhsu.edu
- Inquiries should be addressed to:
